Midd Trustee Donates Memorial Athletic Field

To Dedicate Area To Son's Memory

FIELD TO BE USED FOR INTRAMURALS

An intramural athletic field was given to the college by Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Lang in memory of their son, Fred Davis Lang, who died in World War II, it was announced by Pres. Samuel S. Stratton at a trustees' meeting, June 12, 1948. The new field will be located at the rear of the Memorial Field House and is to be used exclusively for intramural competition.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lang are graduates of Middlebury. Mr. Lang is a member of the class of 1917; his wife was graduated two years earlier. Mr. Lang has been a member of the Board of Trustees since 1941.

Their son, Fred D. Lang, for whom the field will be named, was registered at Middlebury in the class of '47. Army service prevented his matriculation at Middlebury in the fall of 1943. In November 1944, after volunteering for overseas duty, he was killed in action during the campaign in France.

The idea for an intramural athletic field dedicated to their son, was conceived by Mr. and Mrs. Lang to provide facilities for the average student who does not compete in varsity sports.

The new field will cover an area approximately 500 feet long and 420 feet wide. The site of the field has been graded and drained, and the area will be prepared this fall for seeding in the spring. It is hoped that the field may be used for the fall sports schedule next year.

Middlebury Adds Eleven Members To Faculty, Staff

Eleven new members have been added to the faculty and staff at Middlebury College to fill vacancies and cope with the increased enrollment, it was announced by President Samuel S. Stratton.

Dr. Hans Apel, formerly a member of the faculty at Boston University, has been appointed associate professor of economics. He is a graduate of the University of Berlin and received his doctorate from Boston University.

Dr. Jean Berger comes to Middlebury as an instructor in music after having toured Europe, the Near East, South America and the United States doing concert work. He holds a doctorate from Heidelburg University

Kathryn Caughran has accepted the position of instructor in home economics. She holds a B.S. degree from Russell Sage College and an M.A. from Columbia University.

Phillips H. Brown is a graduate of Missouri University and holds an M.B.A. from the Harvard School of Business Administration. For the past two years he has been studying at Missouri for his Ph.D. in economics.

Dr. Harold C. Downes will come to Middlebury as a lecturer in chemistry after having been an industrial chemist and a member of the faculty at Lafayette College.

Duncan D. Fraser will be at Middlebury for one year as an instructor in philosophy. He is a graduate of Dalhousie University at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and has studied for his doctorate for two years at Toronto University.

343 New Students Welcomed on Hill

FROSH WEEK HELD; FIRST CLASSES MEET

An estimated 1,195 students have enrolled at Middlebury College for the 1948-49 semester. This figure represents 25 students less than the record number enrolled last year but is still higher than any enrollment figure prior to 1947.

Although registration is not yet complete, 163 freshman men, 7 men transfers, 153 freshman women, and 20 women transfers began classes today. This makes the total number of new students 343, a greater number than the 283 students who entered last year. Twenty graduate students and 7 special students will attend classes at Middlebury this fall.

The freshman women will be housed in the 48 states, Washington, D. C., and eight foreign countries, Argentina, Brazil, China, Egypt, Puerto Rico, South Africa, Canada and Finland. The majority of the students come from Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey and New York.

Freshman week began Monday, September 20 with an introduction to the faculty and administration. Tuesday the freshmen were indoctrinated in the use of the library, introduced to student organizations, including Blue Key for the men, and were given psychological and English placement tests. Wednesday all students attended opening exercises conducted by Pres. Samuel S. Stratton, after which the freshmen were conducted on a tour of the library. Wednesday evening the freshman women attended a meeting of Student Union at which Dean Mary F. Williams and Elizabeth W. Baker, college social director, gave informal talks. At this time freshman men attended "Midd Night" in McCullough Gymnasium.

Mu Phi Accepted; Rushing Revived At I.F.C. Meeting

The order of Mu Phi was officially recognized as an active, participating member of the Interfraternity Council at a meeting of the Council Monday night. Rushing regulations were reviewed and approved at this time.

Mu Phi will take its place as a local fraternity, the ninth men's fraternal organization at Middlebury, and it will work into the regular rushing program this year.

The Council, realizing that Mu Phi will be operating under handicaps as a new unit, has made certain exceptions in its rules. The time allowed for the posting of the full 300-dollar bond will be extended, and Mu Phi will have its rushees down to the house, formerly Wright House, between 6.30 and 7.30 p.m. These special hours were arranged under the exchange dinner program because the Mu Phi house, as yet, has no dining facilities and its members eat at Gifford Commons.

Changes in conducting the smokers include the requirement that each fraternity be responsible for getting the group visiting at its house, over to the next smoker on time and must notify the next house, by phone, that the group is on its way over. Each Council member will be in charge of his particular house to see that the schedule is adhered to.

Skyline Schedules Freshmen Outing

All freshman students and transfers will be entertained at an outing sponsored by permanent and temporary Skyline of the Mountain Club Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. on the grounds behind Forest Hall.

The purpose of this outing is to introduce freshman men and women to each other and to members of the Mountain Club. Entertainment will include a scavenger hunt which will send the freshmen all over the town of Middlebury. Other games, informal singing, and supper will be included in the program.

Old clothes, such as dungarees and shirts, should be worn

New Women Told Of Midd Activities

A Student Union reception was held in Pearsons Tuesday to acquaint new women with campus organizations and activities.

The representatives were: Pan-Hellenic Council, Janet C. Curry '49; Women's Forum, Dorcas R. Neal '49; Conference, Jean D. Holmberg '49; Campus, Anne C. Meyer '50; Choir and Chorus, Mildred E. Clarke '49; Mountain Club and Winter Carnival, Margaret Drysdale '49; W.A.A., M. Patricia McFarland '49; Dramatics, M. Virginia Calhoun '50; Kaleidoscope, M. Jane Terpening '50; language and literary clubs, Elaine W. Arrington '49; National Student Association, Debora E. Nye '50.

Work Progressing On Memorial Gym

Alumni returning for homecoming this fall will be able to view progress on the World War II Memorial Gymnasium and Field House to which they have contributed during the past two years. The former navy building is being erected on South Main Street adjoining Chi Psi Lodge by Ayers and Hagen, contractors.

Scheduled for completion during the summer of 1949, the new gym will be ready for use during the 1949-50 college year. The building will measure 400 by 120 feet and will contain facilities for all men's athletic activities.

Women's Forum To Initiate Drive Monday, Sept. 27

The annual Membership Drive of Women's Forum will open Monday, September 27. Monday through Thursday, dormitory representatives will be selling membership cards for one dollar to all members of the women's college who are interested in supporting or working for Women's Forum which is a social service organization.

The dorm representatives are Battell, Evelyn A. Brite '50; Chateau, Doris W. Gould '50; Forest East, Cleone T. Jones '49; Forest West, Dorcas R. Neal '49; Hepburn, Sylvia M. Ellsworth '50; Hillcrest, Patricia Wulp '50; Hillside, M. Jane Terpening '50; Homestead, K. Diane Brehm '50; and Pearsons, B. P. Marianna Folke '51.

At the organizational meeting which will follow the drive, members will sign up for committees. The committees and their respective chairmen are: Thrift Shop, M. Cornelia Higley '49; Girl Scouts, Lorraine E. Bean '49; Arts and Crafts, Joan K. Delamater '50; Posters, Jane Hyde '51; Story Hour, Sylvia M. Ellsworth '50; Thanksgiving Baskets, Norma J. Horsford '51; Ripton Arts and Crafts, Mary L. Krum '51; Ripton Christmas Party, Carolyn E. Carlton '50; Hospital, Doris J. Queren '49; and Records, Kathryn A. Pauley '50. Committee heads have not yet been appointed for the following committees: Dancing Class, Ballet, Brownies, Calendar, Calendar Sales, Piano Lessons, Forum Tea, Forum Picnic, Playground, or Hostess.

A Formula

Today the 1948-49 school year officially commenced with the first day of classes. This is to be the year that college life returns to normal. The average age of the freshman men is again at a pre-war seventeen, and the influx of veterans has almost ceased. Collegiate football is to reach proficiency never witnessed since Princeton and Rutgers first battled "on the banks of the old Raritan." Campus social life is to progress, or digress, to unparalleled heights. And, of course, there are to be the usual encounters with the textbooks and the professors. However, the tense international situation, the impending peace-time draft, the somewhat unstable economic status of the country, and the workings of the minds of certain individuals in this country and in other lands, cast shadows over our "return to normalcy."

Despite the shadows and unrest at the beginning of the new school year, if we focus our main attention on Middlebury College and the immediate task ahead, there is much to be gained for each of us. We have chosen the courses of study for the year and these should receive our main attention. Soon extracurricula activities and athletics will make demands of our time. Varsity football gets under way Saturday, freshman football practice commences Monday, women's fall sports will begin soon, and the many campus clubs and organization including fraternity and sororities will begin work and campaigns for membership almost immediately. There will be the usual quota of parties and dances and the smash-bang Saturday double features at the theatres.

To supplement the usual activities, the college has made many improvements and changes which it is hoped will be to our advantage. Most of them will be: Addtions have been made to the faculty, the long-awaited field house and gymnasium is under construction, and a contagious ward for women has been opened in the infirmary. The advising system has been modified to enable each student to receive chosen, individual, and personal attention from his advisor. The scope of the placement service has been widened in an attempt to make the gaps between graduation and gainful employment in a chosen field a shorter one. A new fraternity has been recognized by the college and the Interfraternity Council to keep pace with the increased enrollment and the established policy of opening the way for all men who so desire to become members of a fraternity. The rule for the operating of motor vehicles on campus has been modified but is still more liberal than the rule in most colleges. Also, the women's drinking rule has been changed to forbid all drinking by women in veterans' homes in Middlebury.

The door to an education and self-improvement has been opened for us. Now it is up to us to establish the correct balance between academic work, extracurricular activities, and athletics, and the necessary social life in order to capitalize on our advantages. All work and no play makes Johnny a dull boy.

The Triple Crown

Pounditout is a two-year-old thoroughbred horse owned by the sports staff of the New York World Telegram. Some Telegram admirer either donated or bequeathed the nag to the staff which found itself in a major predicament. What should be done with Pounditout? Visions of War Admiral and Citation reaping fabulous winnings for their owners soon spurred the scribes into action. The horse was sent to a New York track, a trainer was hired, and the reporters anticipated an early retirement to the plush luxuries of mint juleps in the Blue Grass country. After several months of rigorous training and several weeks of more rigorous competition, the trainer advised retiring the horse instead of the newsmen for the winter. Pounditout had amassed slightly less than the fortune anticipated —seventy-five dollars. Perhaps a rest of several months would assure the tired horse of acquiring the "Triple Crown"—Kentucky Derby, Preakness, and Belmont—the racing fraternity's most coveted honor for three-year-old horses.

About this time, at the Progressive Party's convention in Philadelphia, Henry Wallace was formally nominated as that party's candidate for the presidency. After Wallace's acceptance speech, Joe Williams, the sports editor of the World Telegram, made one of the classic comments on the speech: "Henry Wallace promised the American people everything except that Pounditout would win the Triple Crown."

President Stratton Voices Challenge In Opening Speech

Pres. Samuel S. Stratton officially heralded the opening of Middlebury when he addressed the student body in Mead Memorial Chapel Wednesday morning, September 22.

Dr. Stratton, speaking to the freshmen and sophomores at 10:00 a.m. and the junior and senior classes at 11:00 a.m., expressed pleasure at "seeing familiar faces again."

"It is gratifying to witness this annual rebirth of our fellowship which we know and come to love as Middlebury College," said the president.

Aside from the "friendly reunions of students parted for the summer, and the hectic rushing around on campus," Dr. Stratton mentioned a deeper meaning associated with the opening of another college year.

"It signifies both an anniversary and a beginning; a date in the history of college, and a clean, fresh start in the never-ending quest for self-improvement." This time, said the speaker, "is a time to glance backward and a time to go forward."

The speaker emphasized the importance of glancing backward, particularly in the chaotic world of today, as the only way to go ahead "with intelligence and courage." "Only by retrospection," said Dr. Stratton, "by seeing the sweep of history . . . can we attain the serenity and the understanding necessary to go forward. . . ."

The president stated that today, with the development of atomic energy, we are probably on the brink of the "Third great revolution of the Western World." The only way for man to cope with this new age is to study the effects of the two previous revolutions, the Commercial and the Industrial revolutions, according to Dr. Stratton.

The speaker tied these revolutions very closely with higher learning. "Education . . . both contributed to and was affected by, these revolutions of the past." Said Dr. Stratton, "Certainly these are sufficient reasons for glancing backward as we go forward."

The president pointed this coming school year out as a challenge, both for the administration and the students. For the administration, "this new year presents a challenge to preserve the best traditions of our past without permitting them to blind us to the need for vigorous re-appraisal of our objectives in this year of Atomic Revolution."

For the student, this challenge, as described by Dr. Stratton, is "to take full advantage of the total environment which this college provides," and to work toward "all-round self-improvement."

The president concluded, "I hope that you will find a zest for this experiment in living and growing which is now ahead of you."

Music Conference Proves Successful

Alan Carter, Director of the Composers' Conference and Chamber Music Center stated recently that last summer's session, held from August 21 to September 4, was the most intensive since the Conference and Chamber's establishment in 1946. A total of nine concerts were given during the two-week period. More works were composed and a larger number of recordings made of these newly-composed pieces than at either of the two previous sessions.

The annual publication award was given Theodore Strongin for his "Sonata for Piano." Chosen by a staff of advisers, the work will be published by Broude Brothers of New York. Mr. Strongin's manuscript was selected from a group of compositions which included the works of the heads of the music departments of Brown, Michigan, Columbia, Nebraska and Northwestern universities and Alabama State Teachers' College. Mr. Strongin did not have teaching experience.

Two new angles of the Conference and Chamber were the extensive experiments made with woodwinds and organ. Robert Bloom, who plays first oboe for the N. B. C. symphony orchestra under the direction of Arturo Toscanini, was a Chamber member available to test com-

Letters to the Editor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This column is for expression of ideas from readers. Signed letters containing not more than 250 words will be printed.)

Dear Freshmen:

This letter extends an invitation to you to offer your talents to the Campus this fall. No, we don't mean we want you to clip the lawn or weed the flower beds; we're talking about this weekly newspaper produced entirely by students—the Middlebury Campus.

We are looking for people with interest: People who have writing ability and a flare for all the technicalities that go with newspaper work. If you try out for the editorial staff, we can't promise you scoop assignments all the time, and if you try out for the business staff, we can't promise you the position of advertising manager in two weeks; but we can promise you a good time working at the office with lots of rushing around to meet the Thursday night deadline of your newspaper.

If you are trying out for the editorial staff, the line of advancement is from try-out to news staff member, to assistant editor, to senior board member. For the business staff, you advance from tryout to assistant manager, to senior board member. Before advancing in each stage, you must show enough interest and ability to take and pass an exam. On the business staff you sell and allot space for advertisements, take care of Campus expenditures and deliver or send out the copies of each issue. On the editorial staff you work in one of four departments: news, feature, make-up or sports. Here you draw weekly assignments writing stories and do regular office work in your department.

The ruling hand of the paper is held by the CAMPUS Board: editor-in-chief, managing editor, business manager, and advertising manager. After your reign as assistant editor or assistant manager is over, you have a chance of being elected to one of these four top positions. And there it is, the career of a potential editor. Of course, there's much we haven't told you, some of which you can get only by belonging and working with us. There's nothing like the feeling you get when you sell your first bit of advertising space or see your first story in print. So when the announcements of Campus editorial and business staff tryouts are made, come on down and meet us and have a look around the office. We'll be looking forward to seeing you.

For all the staff—

PHIL TURNBULL,

News In Paragraphs

Middlebury's Panhellenic Council has "adopted" a thirteen-year-old Chinese girl in China through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children. As a foster parent, the council contributes fifteen dollars monthly towards the child's support for at least a year. In return, Panhel receives a photograph and brief history of the child.

The girl, Ho Si-Chun, is very undernourished and suffers diseases resulting from her experiences escaping through the Japanese lines when she and her family were fleeing the Japanese advance.

Paul C. Rodgers, Jr., instructor of English at Middlebury for the past two years, has left to study for his doctor's degree in English at Columbia University in New York City.

The Snack Bar sometimes called the "focal point of the entire campus" will open Friday, September 24, at 8.00 a.m. The hours are Monday through Friday, 8.00 a.m. to 1.00 p.m., 3.30-10.00 p.m., with the exception of Thursday, when it will remain open until 11.00 p.m.; Saturday, 8.00 a.m.-5.30 p.m.; and Sunday, 9.00 a. m.-12.00 m., 6.00-10.00 p.m. It will be closed during all home football games and will reopen after the game until 6.00 p.m.

Coke machines have been placed downstairs in the Student Union building and in the gym. The purpose of the machines is to help avoid overcrowding and congestion in the Snack Bar.

After discussion with the administration committee, it has been decided that the women students' privilege of drinking in the homes of married veteran students of the men's college, should not be renewed this year, it was announced by Dean Mary F. Williams.

Women students may not drink on campus, in the town of Middlebury, or anywhere in cars while school is in session. Elsewhere, they are, as always, responsible for their good behavior.

Veterans with disability ratings of 60 percent or more who have dependents are advised to submit promptly to the VA, documentary evidence of dependency so that they may qualify for increased compensation under Public Law 877.

The following women have been appointed as temporary house presidents in their respective dormitories:

Forest East, Barbara T. Myers '49; Forest West, Gene P. Edgar '49; Hepburn, Marilyn A. Marvin '50; Pearsons, Jeanne Flauss '51; Battell, Phyllis Cole '51; Hillcrest, Frances E. Postleman '50; Chateau, Doris W. Gould '50; Hillside, M. Jane Terpening '50; and Homestead, Priscilla A. Wood '50.

The addition of a new bathroom, which was built on the top floor of the infirmary this summer, will enable women students who have contracted light contagious diseases to be housed in the infirmary. Light contagious cases formerly necessitated hospital care and entailed great expense.

The dining room of Hepburn Hall has been soundproofed and the dormitory rooms have been repainted pale green and cream. The inside of Homestead was redecorated during the summer, also.

Pres. Samuel S. Stratton will act as chairman of the science division in the absence of Prof. P. Conant Voter for the academic year 1948-49. President Stratton has appointed Prof. John G. Bowker as vice-chairman of this division and Prof. Grant H. Harnest as acting head of the chemistry department for this period.

Miss Marion Wilson of Bethel, Vt., was married August 7, in the Mead Chapel, to Dr. Rex N. Webster, associate professor of biology at Middlebury College. Dr. and Mrs. Webster now reside in Cornwall Heights where he has lived for the past several years.

Miss Margery Bishop of Amsterdam, N. Y., and Walter J. ("Duke") Nelson, football coach at Middlebury, were married July 10. The ceremony took place in the garden of the bride's aunt's home in Fort Johnson, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are now living in Middlebury.

Robert C. Hope '49, manager of the college band, announced an organizational meeting of the band to be held Thursday, September 23, at 4.30 p.m., at the Music Studio. All students interested in playing in the band are urged to attend. Please bring instruments.

Veterans who file a change of address with the regional office of the Veterans Administration for compensation or pension purposes should file an additional notice with the VA branch office maintaining their insurance records.

Senior men, and junior and sophomore men over twenty-one, may receive permission to maintain motor vehicles at Middlebury while college is in session. Freshmen will not be granted permission to maintain motor vehicles. Other men students under twenty-one may be granted permission when need for essential transportation can be shown, if their parents authorize maintenance of the car and accept responsibility.

Panthers Open With Hobart On Saturday

THE MIDD-WAY

According to James Cain, the postman usually rings twice, but on this particular day he rang a couple of extra times because he had a letter from a place called Middlebury. It was from the Department of Athletics of Middlebury College and it read "Dear John,—We can have a great year if every one of you men return to camp in condition to scrimmage the first day." We liked the sound of the word camp so we decided to visit this place Middlebury and see what its camp was like. Never, since the disillusionment of Ponce De Leon was a person more frustrated. The weather was right; it was sunny and hot, but that was the only semblance of Middlebury's Camp being a good place for a vacation. Work, plenty of hard work was in order. Every morning at approximately nine o'clock some beefy and muscular young men would begin to run around Porter Field in sweatsuits. In the afternoon these same chaps would don all sorts of pads and protective apparatus and run about helter skelter pushing over blocking and tackling dummies. They also had a crude machine called a "charger" which they took delight in shoving around. On Saturday, always a special day in all parts of the United States, these young college men engaged in an actual contest which they called a scrimmage. They all seemed to relish this bit of mayhem and seemed to possess a fondness for punishment which borders on downright greed. When it was all over, one team had won, but it seemed to me that everybody had lost something, even if it was only a little blood.

After a week of observing this camp life we began to enjoy each coming day for it would bring something new into this bee hive of activity. And so, in the fast approaching season where cider, donuts, multi-colored leaves, and gridiron classics assume a great seasonal significance, modest Middlebury will be well represented. With the help of "Lady Luck" and the spirit of Gamaliel Painter she may again have a great year as the author of the letter from the department of athletics so wistfully mentioned.

One thing we did learn on our little camping trip, however, was that these men of muscle do eat heartily and they're meals of copious quantities. It has often been said that an army moves on its stomach. The phrase might well be appropriately applied to a football team, too and during the time that the squad ate at Le Chateau, it might be said "they traveled quite well." In fact, fellows like MacLean and Johnson, gentlemen at large and also large gentlemen, lived so well that they offered line coach Ciccolella quite a challenge. Both men were undefeated at meal time. In the middle of the team's tenure they moved their eating quarters to Gifford Commons on the "Summers Plan" which bears no resemblance to the Marshall Plan—there was a decided decline in the amount of food consumed. Things were rectified in the end when steak once again made its public appearance. On the whole, the food was so good that the amount of freeloaders was astonishing and folks came from far and near to eat with the team.

Bobo Sheehan, who spends his winters on top of mountains skiing, and having his picture taken receiving cups from the various meets in which his team has been victorious, has been added to the Middlebury coaching staff. He has assisted the superlative Duke throughout football camp and will take over the freshmen coaching chores upon the opening of school. He will also assist Coach Ciccolella in the scouting department so that each team may be scouted twice. With such a system even the opposing team's home life will not go unnoticed.

Along with injuries, eligibility and sundry other worries the peacetime draft now may cause some coaches sleepless nights for this is the year of younger, faster squads. Some of the youngsters carrying the colors for Midd are Jerry O'Neil, Irv Meeker, Ben Barsanti, Bob Hughes, Marty Johnson, Ralph Loveys, Sid Nordenschild, Jim Straney, Bill Stewart, Al Turner, Dick Wasson, Bill Whittemore, Tom Emerson, Jim Latimer.

Last year in the pre-season grind the Panthers took on St. Mikes in what was an informal scrimmage. The boys in blue actually outdid themselves as they pushed across five or six T.D.'s on the Knights from Winooski, but this year for reasons known only to the coaches, the informal get-together was not planned. Up until the final rugged scrimmage held last Friday, wild rumors circulated as to when and where another such get-together would be planned. The frisky Panthers were chaffing at the bit for an opportunity to let go, but, as it worked out, the A and B teams had to be content with tearing each other apart in a hammer and tongs affair last Friday.

On Saturday the eleventh of September the squad pictures were taken in the new uniforms. The pants are a daring white with a blue pin stripe down the side. The jerseys are dark blue with huge white numerals. The boys are really going in for the bold look this fall. These attractive uniforms will be saved for the homecoming game with Hamilton on the ninth of October.

This is the time when old friends, alumni and former Midd greats swamp the sports editor's desk with requests for passes. Transportation to Hobart is now the top priority on the request list. However, very little news is coming through the underground as to the comparative strength of the foes whom the Panthers will face on Saturday.

One little item did seep through, however. Sammy Snoop, whose father-in-law is a minister, said that his father-in-law married a fellow who played tackle for Hobart last year and had a brother who was also not returning. The outcome of this little tale is that the two glandular freaks who played the tackle slots for Hobart last year will not return to their ab-normal posts. The Hobart dining halls could not obtain enough raw beef to feed the two Herculean monsters. Another little source came from the Herald Tribune which carried an A.P. clipping stating that Coach Eddie Tryon was building a fast light team. If such be the case, it will be a decided change over last year's Hobart line which averaged well over 200 pounds. The local Doria House, which quotes figures as freely as Lloyds of London, and will establish odds on all Midd contests, rules Midd a slight favorite.

If Midd rules the favorite in close contests this fall it could well be on the strength of her extra-point kickers. In the scrimmages held so far Wendy Forbes has done the majority of the kicking and he sports a better than average record. In last Thursday's contest he booted three out of four. Pat Mulligan, who did most of the place kicking last year, reported late and as yet has not re-educated his toe. Pat was abroad this summer building up Franco-American relations and has held the squad spellbound with his choice anecdotes. He has been affably dubbed "The Story Teller."

Although first things come first and Hobart is the immediate concern, Bates, whom Middlebury will meet in their second quarter, started their season off last Saturday by traveling to Toledo and getting walloped 42-0 by the University of Toledo.

The Panther offense which has shown marked success in early scrimmages has overshadowed the defense. As a matter of fact the second team line from tackle to tackle was more than a match for the first club. Guido Tine, Frank Haven, Don MacLean, Ben Barsanti and Marty Johnson have made the reserve forward wall a fighting outfit. Haven, a converted back, has shown up well on defense and Guido Tine is the most improved lineman on the club. "Tine Waits For No One" is the theme song and the "Gide" may well fill that big hole before long.

Freshman Football To Start Monday; Samuel Guarnaccia To Lead Yearlings

Runners Prepare For Oct. 6 Meet

A strange but hardy Middlebury breed called harriers and cross-countrymen will travel to Plattsburg, N. Y., October 8, to attempt to outstagger a similar nomadic group from Champlain College.

Led by Jim Newman, who has been beaten only once in two years of this competition, the Panthers are anticipating a victory. Captain Newman has spent his summer catching rabbits by the ears for a Westchester County fur company and will probably finish first in all six meets. It is expected that he will be closely followed by Norm Bates and Rufe Cushman. Middlebury's future is further enhanced by the return of Doc Drohat, Dave Dale, and Bob Gore from last year's squad. Help is also expected from graduates of last year's freshmen team, namely Pete Perryman, Tom Jacobs (erstwhile skier) and John Mooney.

* Coach Arthur Brown is pessimistic about probabilities for a "really good season," but it must be admitted that he is no novice at delivering blue predictions. The spring track team, which went undefeated, was launched with similar tears.

The schedule listed here is the revised, correct schedule. Williams, omitted in the booklet released by the athletic department, will be met at Williamstown on October 22. Trinity, originally listed for that date, will be met at Middlebury on October 29.

FOUR GAME SLATE FOR FROSH SQUAD

On Monday afternoon, September 27, the Midd freshman grid squad will begin workouts for their opening game on October 15 with Kimball Union Academy. Sam Guarnaccia will once again coach the boys and head them in the direction of the varsity. Coach Guarnaccia stated that early workouts would consist of calisthenics and conditioning work. They will gradually work into contact work and scrimmage. As was the plan last year, the freshmen may scrimmage with the varsity later on in the season as head coach Duke Nelson will be interested to see how the yearlings stack up against his squad.

After the Kimball Union warmup the "Junior Panthers" will engage in the annual Vermont series, meeting St. Mike's, Norwich, and Vermont in three successive weeks. Last year the Midd frosh squad ran roughshod over the competition offered by the Vermont state teams. They encountered little trouble in knocking over U. V. M. and Norwich and downed St. Mike's 6-0. This year however, the competition should be stiffer as St. Mike's has a reported 91 out of their freshman team and is supposedly power laden. It is impossible at this time to evaluate the strength of the freshman team, but if they can equal the record of last year's team they will be doing more than their share for the Blue and White.

Jerry O'Neil, Jim Latimer, Bob Hughes, Tom Emerson, Phil Wallwork, Bill Whittemore, Ralph Loveys, Sid Nordenschild, Chet Nightingale, Al Turner, Ben Barsanti and Bill Stewart are all frosh stars of a year ago who graduated to the varsity and today are the bulk of the reserves who have strengthened the Panther attack. The freshman schedule is as follows:

| Date | Opponent |
|---|---|
| Oct. 15 | Kimball Union Academy |
| Oct. 22 | St. Michael's |
| Oct. 29 | Norwich |
| Nov. 6 | Vermont |

THE FIRST VICTIM

Squad Shapes Up Despite Injuries

19 VETERANS HEAD PANTHER MACHINE

The "Big Blue" football machine gets rolling again this Saturday as it makes its 1948 debut against the Hobart College Statesmen at Geneva, N. Y.

Marriage, an eight letter word, which is undefinable and means many things to different people, did what it could to cripple the Midd football chances. Tony Monaco, veteran guard and a rugged chap in any circle, has taken that step and may not return to college. Bob Bigelow, who was one of the brightest prospects last fall and another stalwart at the guard spot has also taken the sacred vows and did not return for camp. Bob, however, was hampered by a serious bone injury in his left wrist.

"Dame Injury" has played right along with "Miss Marriage" to throw a rock into the Blue Machine. Serious injuries to Parker Poole, Mike Tanes, and Dick Shea have shelved these boys for the season while the status of Dick Wasson and John O'Conner is hanging in the balance.

Despite these two plagues which have pounced upon the Panther squad, Coaches Duke Nelson and Dick Ciccolella are still looking forward to a big year. Nineteen lettermen of last year's Vermont state championship club have returned, and old faces are prominent in the starting line-up. On the line, Capt. Dave Thompson and Red Hamre will hold down their old spots at tackle. Thompson is bigger and faster this year and is expected to make his last year for Midd a big one. Right behind these two veterans are Guido Tine and Marty Johnson. "Guido the Great" has come into his own this year and should prove to be a bulwark on defense. The two guard positions will have Bard Lindeman and Red Connors holding up the middle of the line. Red is capably filling the gap left by Monaco, and right behind Red, ready to help, is Frank Haven, a converted back. At the center position is Pete Drennan who took over last year when Charlie Puksta was forced to the sidelines. Pete looks better than ever and is a fireball on defense backing up the line. A comparative newcomer to the group is "Tiny" MacLean who is ready to spell Drennan at any moment. "Tiny" weighs in at a shade over 220 and returns to Midd after a short tour with the U. S. Navy. On the flanks Irv Meeker will hold up one position, as he starts his third season wearing the blue and white. At the other end will be Pete Cassimatis, or Ralph Loveys. Pete came fast at the end of last year but is being pushed by Loveys, who sparked last year's freshman club.

Intramural Titles Won By Chi Psis

The Chi Psi Lodge won the 1947-1948 Trophy of Trophies, coming out on top in one of the closest battles ever staged in Middlebury's intramural competition. Using Brooklyn Dodger-like tactics which involved mass participation in all sports, the Lodge edged out a win over the Dekes 754½ to 750½. Delta Upsilon with 720 points was a very respectable third.

The Erickson - McDonald Memorial Trophy was also won by the Chi Psis with 534 points against Delta Upsilon's 499 and the Dekes 471. This is only fitting and proper since the trophy, which is awarded for non-varsity athletics only, was donated in 1946 by the gold-star parents of the two Chi Psi war heroes whose name it bears.

A run-down of the '47-'48 race follows:

| | Var. | Intra. | Ind. | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chi Psi | 200 | 534½ | 20 | 754½ |
| DKE | 263 | 471 | 16½ | 750½ |
| DU | 297 | 499 | 14 | 720 |
| SPE | 319 | 347 | 21½ | 687½ |
| Neutral | 171 | 195½ | 22 | 388½ |
| KDR | 50 | 248 | 6 | 304 |
| ASP | 112 | 168½ | 11 | 291½ |
| TC | 8 | 193 | 0 | 201 |
| ATO | 6 | 111 | 2 | 119 |

MEN'S ASSEMBLY PLANS ELECTION

Men's Assembly elections will be held on Thursday, October 7, it was announced by Donald H. Henderson, president of Men's Undergraduate Association.

The Men's Assembly is the legislative body for the men's college and is composed of representatives from dormitories, fraternity houses, and off campus men. They are nominated and elected by the students. The constitution of the Men's Undergraduate Association specifies that the Men's Assembly shall be composed of one representative for each fifteen men or fraction thereof.

Single Assembly representatives will be elected by the men living in each of the following: Dog Team Tavern, Charter House, Wright House, and each of the fraternity houses. The college dormitory representatives will be selected by floor elections. A single representative will be elected from each floor of Painter Hall and two from each floor of Starr and Gifford Halls. Off campus men will be represented according to the established ratio.

Women To Attend Annual Midd-Night

Upperclassmen of the Women's College will present a seven-act burlesque and the traditional senior sing at "Midd Night," Saturday at 8:00 p.m. in the high school gym. Freshmen women, transfers, women faculty members, faculty members, faculty wives, house directors, and the dean have been invited as guests of the upperclassmen.

Margaret A. Stearns '50 is chairman of "Midd Night," Louise G. Laverie '50 is in charge of the skits, and Mildred E. Clarke '49 will direct the senior sing. Other chairmen are E. Bernice Kenerson '50, faculty invitations; M. Jane Terpening '50, freshman invitations; Hope Redington '50 and Margaret A. Teachout '50, refreshments.

Breadloal Session Attracts Attention Of Noted Writers

The twenty-third annual session of the Breadloaf Writers' Conference was held from August 18 to September 1 at the Breadloaf Mountain campus. Theodore and formerly of the editorial staff of Atlantic Monthly, directed the Conference assisted by Richard L. Brown of the Department of English of Middlebury College.

In the field of verse, staff members during the session were Robert Frost, four times Pulitzer Prize winner and an associate of the Conference since its beginning in 1926 and John Ciardi, author of two books of poems, the latest of which is Other Skies, and contributor to many magazines, notably The New Yorker.

Bernard De Voto, novelist, historian, critic and twice Pulitzer Prize winner and A. B. Guthrie, Jr., author of The Big Sky, and short story contributor to the Saturday Evening Post and Collier's, were among the Conference leaders. Two well known visiting lecturers were Louis Untermeyer, poet and compiler of anthologies of verse, and Gerald Warner Brays, author of Garretson Chronicle.

In contrast to the Breadloaf School of English, the Writers' Conference has strictly non-academic aims. It serves as a meeting ground for all types of writers from advertising men to poets where discussions of the techniques employed by writers of the various literary forms are held, and offers lectures by a volunteer staff of well established authors and publishers.

Members of the Conference are either teachers of English or writers whose published works or submitted manuscripts have given proof of their ability to contribute to the success of the Conference as well as receive advice and inspiration from it. A limited number of fellowships, among them one open to the entire United States Navy, regardless of rank, give young writers the opportunity to profit from contact with professionals.

Men's Midd-Night Observed In Gym

Midd Night, an old Middlebury tradition, was observed last night in McCullough gymnasium. This annual get-together for the men's college serves the purpose of introducing various members of the faculty, administration and campus leaders to the new men, and to allow them to meet each other.

Most of the speakers at the smoker stressed the importance of keeping up the old traditions of Midd and extended a cordial welcome to new students.

Among those who spoke were Pres. Samuel S. Stratton; W. Storrs Lee, dean of men; Benjamin Wissler, faculty representative; Samuel Guarnaccia, freshman football coach and member of the faculty; Arthur M. Brown, director of athletics; Walter "Duke" Nelson, coach of football, hockey and golf; Roland V. Johnson, college chaplain; Donald H. Henderson, men's undergraduate president, who also served as toastmaster; Kyle W. Prescott, Blue Key president; David E. Thompson and John V. Corbisiero, co-captains of the football team.

Midd Begins Its 1948 Grid Season Against Statesmen

who should cause many a worry for opposing coaches this fall. Paul Farrell, Wendy Forbes, Jack Mulcahy, and Homer Ellis should share most of the running assignments on Saturday behind the invaluable blocking of fullback "Jarrin' John" Corbisiero. The blocking back spot will be held down by "Shack" Shahan who seems to improve each year. Up from the freshman squad to bolster this group are Bobby Hughes, Jerry O'Neil, Tom Emerson, Jim Latimer, Jack Hagan, Phil Wallwork, Bill Whittemore, and Hank Thomas, as fine a looking crop of speedsters as a coach could ask for. Sam Masters, the most improved back on Duke's roster is going all out this year and if he can shake the injury jinx should be a big help.

Looking to the Hobart affair we find that the "Statesmen" are confronted with the problem of rebuilding. They lost 14 men by graduation and Coach Eddie Tryon has his work cut out for him. Speed and deception are the watchwords at Geneva and the offense is built around Ralph Cardillo, a 175-lb. half back. The standout on the line is six-foot Joe Dara who works out of the guard position. A quick look in the crystal ball shows that the Panthers from Middlebury should get away to a fast start by setting back Hobart 20-7. The starting line-up, barring unforeseen accident:

L. E. Cassimatis
L. G. Connors
C. Drennan
R. G. Lindeman
R. T. Hamre
R. E. Meeker
Q. B. Shahan
L. H. Farrell
R. H. Mulcahy
F. B. Corbisiero

Music Conference Proves Successful

positions for woodwinds. Woodford Garrigus, a Middlebury College student, was another oboe musician. Mr. Garrigus' sister, Patricia, in addition to a staff organist, played scores written for the organ.

The Composers' Conference and Chamber Music Center serve as a clinic for young composers, to air difficulties encountered in various phases of composition. Experienced criticism of scores and a program of discussion, instruction and performance is the aim of the Composers' Conference. The Chamber Music Conference, providing contact between Center functions coordinately with the composer and the player. Ample chamber music material is made available to both amateur and accomplished students of music. Members of the Middlebury College String Quartet are a part of the regular staff.

A notable outcome of the 1948 session was the establishment of a scholarship fund by its participants. Enough money was donated to enable eight promising musicians to attend next year's conferences.

RALLY

Middlebury's Panthers leave from McCullough Gym at 7.45 a.m. tomorrow for their opening game with Hobart at Geneva, N. Y. Let's all get out and give them a big send-off.

Fraternity Night

The exchange dinner plan is essentially the same as last year except that the dinner periods have been shortened by fifteen minutes so that the hours now allotted for them are from 5.30 to 7.00 p.m.

The introductory address will be given to the freshmen at 8.30 p.m. tonight in Monroe 303 at which time the entire program will be outlined.

SUMMERS NAMED NEW INN MANAGER

Robert A. Summers, Director of Food Service at Middlebury College, has been appointed manager of the Middlebury Inn, succeeding William Hearne who recently resigned. He will assume his new duties as of October 1. In addition to his new position he will remain in charge of all college food services.

Mr. Summers was appointed Director of Food Service in August, 1946. Previous to this he was manager of the St. James Hotel in Woonsocket, R. I.

Mr. Summers was graduated from the Department of Hotel Administration at Cornell University in 1941. He was commissioned as a supply officer in the Navy where he served until December, 1944. Upon his discharge from the Navy in 1945 with the rank of lieutenant, S.G., he became manager of the St. James Hotel.

He is a member of the Vermont Hotel Association, the New England Hotel Association, the National Restaurant Association, and the Corneli Society of Hotel Men.
